

Moose Cree
First Nation

DONATE TRADITIONAL FOOD

The Traditional Hunting Season is in full swing here and there are a number of things at home that need to be taken into consideration. Making room for this year's harvest will mean cleaning out your freezers. One way of sharing your harvest is by redistributing it in the community.

The Tourism and Cultural Programs have community freezers to store the meat which is used for community feasts and events. The programs may also work with the Social Assistance and Elders Programs to distribute the meat to the community members that are not able to hunt for themselves. Feel good about giving back and not letting your Traditional food go to waste.

I wish all of you a safe and productive spring harvest. Please exercise care and caution and enjoy your time out on the land.

The Tourism and Cultural Program staff is available to pick up any donations you wish to make. Please contact MCFN at (705) 658-4619 and speak to Kim Cheechoo at ext. 279 or Geraldine Govender at ext. 246